HOW WE WORSHIP AND WHY – CHORAL MATTINS

There is an old saying – bis orat qui bene cantat; “he prays twice who sings well”. Music has that power to lift our hearts out of torpor into fervent worship. Normally our own voices are the vehicles of our own praise. That's the tradition of congregational singing, in which untrained voices join together, usually in unison, for the singing of metrical psalms, hymns, and simple chants. The other is choral, where a choir of trained and skilled voices is the congregation, or sings on its behalf. Normally our service is a bit of both, but on this Sunday, though the congregation does join in for hymns and some prayers, the service is chiefly choral; and therefore we must use the choir as our representatives and make their singing the outward expression of our own aspirations. This requires from us a sustained effort to follow the outward singing of their voices with the inward lifting up of the heart; but, as Colin Dunlop said, when trained voices sing some of the finest pieces of sacred music ever written, “the total offering to God can be something in comparably more precious than would be the case if the musical standard were levelled down to the capacity of the least gifted singer”. Indeed, it is perhaps when our own voice is not the vehicle, and we are not focused on producing the right sounds, or exulting in our own performance, that we can most completely fulfill the apostle's exhortation, to “be filled with the Spirit; speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Ephesians 5:18, 19).

PREPARING IN PENITENCE

¶ Then the Minister shall say,

Sentences and Exhortation Prayer Book, p. 3-6

Thus saith the high and loft One that inhabiteth eternity...

Dearly beloved brethren, the Scripture moveth us . . .

A GENERAL CONFESSION (Said by all, kneeling.)

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father; We have erred, and strayed from thy ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against thy holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done; And we have done those things which we ought not to have done; And there is no health in us. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us, miserable offenders. Spare thou those, O God, who confess their faults. Restore thou those who are penitent; According to thy promises declared unto mankind in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake; That we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life, To the glory of thy holy Name. Amen.

(Continue kneeling as priest stands to pronounce the Absolution.)

Lord’s Prayer (said by all, kneeling)Prayer Book, p. 7

OUR Father, who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, As it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, As we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; But deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

(The Old Testament Lesson (All sit.): Ezekiel 36: 16-28. The promise of inward renewal by the Spirit.

In those days: the word of the LORD came unto me, saying, ¹⁷ Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their own way and by their doings: their way was before me as the uncleanness of a removed woman. ¹⁸ Wherefore I poured my fury upon them for the blood that they had shed upon the land, and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it: ¹⁹ And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries: according to their way and according to their doings I judged them. ²⁰ And when they entered unto the heathen, whither they went, they profaned my holy name, when they said to them, These are the people of the LORD, and are gone forth out of his land. ²¹ But I had pity for mine holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the heathen, whither they went.

Therefore say unto the house of Israel, thus saith the Lord GOD; I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy name's sake, which ye have profaned among the heathen, whither ye went. ²³ And I will sanctify my great name, which was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midst of them; and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, saith the Lord GOD, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes. ²⁴ For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land. ²⁵ Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you. ²⁶ A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh. ²⁷ And I will put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them. ²⁸ And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

ALMIGHTY God, Father of all mercies, we, thine unworthy servants, do give thee most humble and hearty thanks for all thy goodness and loving-kindness to us and to all men; We bless thee for our creation, preservation, and all the blessings of this life; but above all, for thine inestimable love in the redemption of the world by our Lord Jesus Christ; for the means of grace, and for the hope of glory. And, we beseech thee, give us that due sense of all thy mercies, that our hearts may be unfeignedly thankful; and that we show forth thy praise, not only with our lips, but in our lives, by giving up our selves to thy service, and by walking before thee in holiness and righteousness all our days; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with thee and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory, world without end. Amen.

THE BLESSING

Minister: To God the Father, who first loved us, and made us accepted in the Beloved; to God the Son, who loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood; to God the Holy Ghost, who sheddeth the love of God abroad in our hearts: to he one true God be all love and all glory for time and for eternity. Amen.

The Lord bless ☩ you, and keep you. The Lord make his face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you. The Lord lift up his countenance upon you, and give you peace, both now and evermore. Amen.

PARISH PAPER ESSAY

TO GOD BE THE GLORY

On Whitsunday, or Pentecost, the church commemorated the pouring out of the Spirit on the disciples, for the sake of their mission in the world. Today, on Trinity Sunday, we celebrate the ultimate end of that mission – to lift us up, that we may “see” and “enter” the Kingdom of God. “Behold, a door was opened in heaven, . . . and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne”. In the presence of the eternal King, the powers of creation “rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, LORD God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come”; while the saints “fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying, Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created”. The mission of the Son and of the Spirit has this end, the worship of God. “Man’s chief end is to glorify God” and in so doing “to enjoy him for ever”. On this Sunday we glory in God as he has revealed himself to us, a Trinity of Persons in Unity of Substance, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. For the point of knowing God is to love him; the fulfilment of doctrine (truth) is doxology (worship).

At the heart therefore the service of Choral Matins (as also of Evensong) is the praise of God’s glory. Leading into this service of praise is a penitential introduction; following after are the “preces”, the prayers for grace. Thus the whole order exercises our minds in the three moments of response to the gospel, repentance, faith, and works. (Sermon, anthem, offering, procession, and closing prayers merely extend this pattern.)

In the penitential introduction we acknowledge our need of grace, for “there is no health in us”; we hear the assurance of the grace we seek, “he pardoneth and absolveth all those who truly repent and believe his holy gospel”, and accordingly we pray for “true repentance and his Holy Spirit” to please the Lord in our worship and in our lives, “that at the last we may come to his eternal joy”. Penitence is the springboard of praise; it is as forgiven sinners that we give ourselves to the praise of his glory, as he reveals himself in judgment and mercy in his Word. Fittingly, the lesser doxology (“Glory be to the Father”) runs through the service of praise like a refrain. It begins with the Invitatory psalm (95), which calls us to give thanks to the great God and Savior who has taken us as his own people, and who challenges us to “hear his voice” that we may “know his ways” and “enter into his rest”, in the promised land of everlasting life. Then follows the Psalms – the Bible’s own book of praise – each offered to the glory of the triune God. In Psalm 145, one of the psalms appointed for Pentecost, praise “of the wonderful works of God” is itself the theme, the gospel proclamation among all nations.

After the Old Testament Lesson (Ezekiel’s prophecy of new birth by the Spirit) we respond again in praise, with the greater Doxology called the Te Deum, aligning ourselves with all powers of creation in praise of the Creator, and with “the holy church throughout the world” in the confession of the Trinity; and in the praise of Christ, for opening “the kingdom of heaven to all believers”. Our worship in this particular time and place joins in the universal and continual offering made in heaven and on earth, in the return of the creation to the Creator.

After the New Testament Lessons, once again we respond in praise, in the Benedictus, using the words that greeted Christ on his first coming into the world as our own thanksgiving for redemption in him: “that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life”.

After the praise of God’s glory in his Word, then the prayers for the grace promised to his Church, beginning with the Apostles’ Creed: “Since we are to pray to God the Father, in the name of the Son, by the assistance of the Holy Ghost... we first declare that we believe in the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost... and then we may be said to pray in faith” (Wheatley). In the “lesser litany”, we reaffirm our need of his grace; in the “Lord’s Prayer”, we commit ourselves as disciples of the Son to seek his Father’s glory in dependence on his grace. In versicles and responses from the psalms the Word of God becomes our word to God. These conclude with the collects, compact, pithy petitions for varied graces of sanctification, addressed to the Father, by the mediation of the Son, and concluding in doxology of the three persons; for through God alone do we attain to God.
